Today: Book Sale!

A sale of surplus IPDET materials will be held today at 12:30 pm in 215 Tory Building. Remaining textbooks and course packs from the Core program and workshops will be sold at cost. The book sale is cash-only payment. There is an ATM located in University Centre should you need cash.

Final Graduation Tomorrow

As the end of Week 4 approaches, we look forward to our big celebration tomorrow night.

The IPDET staff cordially invite you to the final graduation, taking place in the majestic Grand Hall of the Canadian Museum of History.

Tomorrow’s ceremony begins at 6:30 pm, with buses departing Carleton from outside Residence Commons at 6:00 pm.

National dress is welcomed and encouraged. And remember to wear comfortable shoes as there is sure to be lots of dancing!

IPDET Photos for the Slideshow

Thanks to everyone who has sent in photos. Please email Christine (christineackerley@cunet.carleton.ca) with your suggested IPDET pictures for inclusion in the Graduation slideshow!

IDEAS Annual General Meeting at 6:00 pm

As an IPDET participant, you have an International Development Evaluation Association (IDEAS) membership. Please join us for the AGM — a short but strategic exposure to this important community — this evening at 6:00 pm in 2222 River Building.

Ramadan

Today, Iftar is at 8:55 pm. A Ramadan dinner will be served in the Residence Commons Banquet Hall at 9:00 pm. Tomorrow, Sahri is at 3:26 am and Iftar is at 8:55 pm.

Heavy Luggage?

If you need to weigh your luggage before your flight, scales are available at the Residence Commons Reception desk to borrow and return.

Fun Facts

Did you know? Leeds Residence is named after Leeds County, an area about an hour southwest of Ottawa. The county was created in 1792 and took its name from Francis Osborne, 5th Duke of Leeds. All the Carleton Residence buildings are named after nearby counties and towns.
